Programme

Dear colleagues

For the sixth time, we welcome you to the joint congress of the DGBP (German Society of Biological Psychiatry) and AGNP (Working Group for Neuropsychopharmacology) in Berlin.

The congress will once again provide a platform for contributions ranging from neurobiological and experimental basic research to the development of innovative diagnostics and therapies for mental disorders.

New in 2026:

- Collaborations with many domestic and foreign associations
- Congress languages: German and English
- International keynote speakers
- Focus on posters sessions
- Short oral presentations
- Mentoring sessions for young colleagues
- and much more

The joint event is intended as a forum for young scientists to introduce themselves and their topics, but also to further their education.

As part of this year's congress, the DGBP/Stiftung Nervenheilkunde and AGNP will present the winners of their science awards.

Both societies will award travel grants and poster prizes. The latter will be selected by all congress participants on Friday afternoon.

We look forward to your participation and to exciting contributions and discussions.
